Dear Bob and Bruce:

The Eagle-Vail Golf Course is open and what a superb, challenging 18. It is everything that we hoped for and even more. The course is unique with a personality of its own. In the 22 years that I have been covering golf on TV, including all the major tournaments in this country, I have yet to see a course like it.

The two of you deserve to be commended in so many ways. How you managed to stay within budget, yet come up with such a pictorial, exciting design is truly remarkable. I believe that two important contributing factors were your constant on-site supervision; plus your imaginative treatment of the natural topographical hazards of our mountain terrain.

The old adage of using every club in the bag is certainly true at Eagle-Vail, and when you address the ball on any one of our 18 beautiful tees, you had better start concentrating because Eagle-Vail is a thinking man's golf course--any mental lapse will cost you dearly.

Its sensational!

Regards,

Bud Palmer
